BETHEL, MAINE, THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1944

Single Copy—FIVE CENTS

G. A. HONOR STUDENTS ASSIGNED PARTS WED.

The first 10 positions in the 1944 graduating class of Gould Academy were announced Wednesday morning, March 22, as follows: Anna Aldrich, Brookline, Mass.; James Reid, Kezar Falls; Barbara Coolidge, Bethel; Marilyn Abbott, West Bethel; Edward Little, Bethel; Peggy Cates, East Vassalboro: Anne Litchard, Lincoln, Mass.; Francis Gilman, Lovell; Francis Berry and Margaret Hanscom, Bethel.

This year the speakers will be limited to the first three honor students. Miss Anna Aldrich, daughter of A. C. Aldrich of 135 Beaconsfield Road, Brookline, Mass., will have the valedictory. James Reid, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Reid of Kezar Falls, will have the salutatory, and Miss Barbara Coolidge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Coolidge of Bethel, to the amount of $38.40 paid to

. As it was unwise to have five speakers, and the next two people have tied for that position, there will be only three student speak-'ers at Commencement, and President Kenneth Sills of Bowdoin College, who will deliver the Commencement address. The main theme of the Commencement. which has not yet been decided upon, wil be announced at a later

IRELAND:

Faces Isolation

Because Ireland lies so hard by Britain, the latter has always looked upon it as sort of necessary adjunct of Britain's defense, and long and bitter have been the controversles between the two countries over the question of its sovereignty.

Lunt ruffled through Britisin's economic blockade of Ireland from 1932-'38, relations between the two countries have become troubled again, with the U. S. joining Britain this time in demanding that Ireland oust the German and Japanese representatives, charged with carrying out espionage activity against Allied forces massed in the British Isles for the invasion of Ringed on all sides, Jap troops in the South Pacific were given no rest by U. S. forces slowly pulverizing their defensive outposts to the Phil ippines and Asiatic mainland.

GAS RATIONS:

West Cut

Because of expanded farm and highway needs, gas rations for all "A" card holders west of the Alleghany mountains were cut from three to two gallons per coupon, the reduction being accomplished by extending the validity of the coupons from 7 to 10 days.

Effect of the OPA-action was to take away one of the three gallons on the "A" coupon allotted for essential driving, and bring westerners' "A" rations to the same level as in the 17 eastern states.

Cut in the "A" coupons does not affect holders of "B" and "C" couons, who will be able to obtain additional ration allotments for occupational driving to offset the reduc-tion in the "A" card values.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

How can the Allied governments, the Allied armies, sworn to defend the cause of democracy, continue to deal with Italy's Fascist king and Marshal Badoglio and refuse to rece ognize the anti-Fascist conference of colitical parties recently organized at a meeting held in Bari, Italy?

The so-called "junta of the Committees of Liberation" named following the Bari conference, telegraphed to members of the British house of commons a message which contained this passage:

"Here Fascism, at first confused and fearful, has taken courage. It has assumed a mask and has rallied around the crown. Affecting a friendship which is too recent to be sincere, it has attempted to distort the judgment of your political and military officials. Once more oppressing our people as it has always done, it is putting all manner of legal and illegal obstacles in the way of any genuine popular initiative which tries to render more efficient and serious the contribution of liberated Italy to the war against the Germans.'

Addressing the Barl conference, Italian Sen. Benedetto Croce had said:

"It is a fact that the waning prestige of the king and the lack of confidence in him prevent the king himself from rallying an Italian army; he himself, fearing the opposition against his person, has prohibited the formation of an army of volunteers. Many young men who camestoyme from German-occupted territory full of enthusiasm were forced to disband, disappointment in their hearts, because they did not find anyone to rally them and give them the opportunity to fight."

Those statements seem forthright and fair. After reading them, I was not surprised when a fairly important but not "fairly" informed person said to me:

"The Allies are lined up with the

That seems to me a typical atti-

Think of the abuse heaped upon the state department in that case—the deluge of flery "liberal" criticism at home and in England, the wrath of De Gaulle and the rest of the French anti-Vichyites.

Bitter Reaction

And then, when on the tenth of last month it was announced that our famed AMG, the carefully trained, objective military government provided by the Allies, who had taken over the civilian administration of liberated Italy, had turned over the government in these provinces from which the Germans had been driven, to the Badoglio government, what a deluge of bitter and cynical comment was hurled at the Allied leaders.

There was a mix-up and what Laurel got was a diploma calling him w doctor of civil law, a far higher distinction which he didn't deserve by half. LEW BURNET has been engaged by | news. He understood about the | ing past the fire pit. They loaded TOM ARNOLD, owner of the Cross T. so act as trail boss on the drive from southern Texas to Ogaliala in the spring of 1875. Tom with his son and daughter, STEVE and JOY, are moving to Wyo-liming. Tom must feliver 3,000 longhorns to the Indian agent by September 1 or loss a profitable contract. Lew has reason to believe that the Indian Supply Co. Is trying to delay the Cross T. Lew heads west, and successfully brings the herd through the dangers from duststorms and drouth, to the banks 21"the Red River. Lew rides on to Doan's store, and finds that none of the other serds have crossed yet. Back at camp, he has another run-in with ED SPLANN.

CHAPTER VIII

The Indian Supply Company's Open A might be among those herds held up on the south bank by the high water of the Red River. Or they may have crossed before the rains. He wanted to know some way without his own presence being known. Unless there had been a leak, his Cross T had vanished completely as far as the Open A knew. Lew slid his horse down the high riverbank and then on the gravel shore rode at a lope again. Little side ravines began to cut the red wall in half an hour's riding. He came to Doan's flatboat ferry tied up because of the flood. He had seen no one. He rode on to a point that would bring him up behind the store and hid his horse in the wil-

Noise of the crowd that had gathered here floated off the rim. He walked directly up into it, the wild, mingled voices of two or three hundred restless men spending their time and money in the only two ways that Doan's store offered.

Whoever Doan was he didn't know. This place had been here long before his first trip up the trail.

As soon as he walked in, even while his eyes caught little at first in the dim light, he had a quick sense of something wrong. The room was not crowded. Trail ment took their drinks outside. He saw mostly, among the fifteen or twenty figures, the blue, yellow-striped uniforms of the army moving across the damp clay floor. The talk was I low; the smells of tobacco and liquor and oiled leather were right.

Then farther inside he knew. It was the big Swede's jovial voice he missed so quickly. Ole Soderlund wasn't here. He had counted on Ole. They were friends and they could talk, and that talk would never leak out of the Swede's head.

A man he didn't know was on a high stool behind the counter at the back of the room. He was small and wore a black suit with a white shirt, oddly out of place in this frontier store. Shrewd eyes in a pinched face were watching him closely. He reached the counter. "Soderlund gone?"

Only a curt nod answered him. "For good?"

"Sold out." He could feel a guarded suspicion behind the shrewd eyes and he wondered. Did he look like anything but another trail hand? "Something you want?"

"Maybe." he said and turned away, putting aside for now the one question he had come here to ask. Tonight's celebration called for a treat. He found the sardines on a shelf and took down fourteen cans. A trail crew always ran short of tobacco. He apread his rawhide coat and piled into it with the sardines a five-pound box of Honey Tip Twist for the old men who chewed and a dozen cloth sacks of Dixle Durham for the smokers.

Three army men stood around an open cracker barrel. He turned to one who had a lieutenant's gold bars. "What brings you boys so far south?"

The lieutenant smiled. "Whisky." "Well" - he grinned - "there's plenty of it!" He looked at the smooth boylsh face and thought the government never did show much sense, Like this youngster. A green West Pointer hardly twenty-two or three sent out here to cut his milk teeth on the Indians.

Soberly the licutenant was saying, "You're right, there's plenty here. Too much liquor too close to the reservation. I'll warn you. If you're going north don't load up your wagons with more than you need. There's a tribe loose. If they cut your herd for beef don't trade them whisky instead."

He nodded. "I see" What he saw was a reason for the new trader's watchfulness. Ole Soderlund had never traded snake-juice across the Red. But it could be a good "Comunches loose again?" he asked. "No, it's the Dakota Cheyennes, They're out on a hunting permit after antelope. Six hundred of them. But antelope are scarce. Trail beef is a lot easier." The lieutenant looked stern. "Don't ask me for help if you get caught. You Texans have got no right crossing the Nations. There's a treaty against that." "Sure, a freaty!" Thus boy was talking out of a book, "Did any Texan sign it? I know. We ought to drive clean around by way of the Mississippi!" Lew grinned and stared on. "No hard feelings, Bub. Come and get a good meal if you that break. Red Cloud was not here now; he was a guest at the capitol in Washington where ladies of the Indian Friends' society were making fools of themselves and a bigger one out of him. It was all in the papers. As good a way as any, Lew guessed, to tame a wild Cheyenne. But there were young chiefs with the tribe, more dangerous even than the old one because they knew white men's tricks and had known white women. He could handle them if they stayed sober. Outtalk them and present a few old mossyhorns from the herd. But full of whisky-

He was back again at the counter. spreading out his coat. He stacked five silver dollars on the boards. "Right?" The man nodded and he rolled his coat around the bundle once more, and then, casually, he asked, "Has an Open A herd crossed here yet?"

A thin hand reached out for the cartwheels and dropped them into an iron cashbox. "Who's looking for the Open A?" "I asked, didn't 1?"

"You did. That's what I want to

He shrugged, warned, "Never mind. My question wasn't so important." He walked out slowly, taking his time, yet even more guarded, and threw a long look around the clearing before he turned toward the river. He had seen nothing, But as soon as he was gone a man whom he might have recognized stepped from behind the buffalo-bone pile and hurriedly entered the store.

The late afternoon turned gray beneath a bank of thunderclouds, Dark niggerheads plied up, flat at the base, round on top. Loping back along the river bottom, that was his only troubling thought. A storm would spoil the evening's celebra-

Night fell swiftly. He climbed up into the darkness of the flat shelf. Campfires of those herds at the crossing were out of sight now, but ahead was a single huge blaze to gulde him.

Still a mile off, he could see figures moving in that wide circle of light. Trees stood up above them tall and red. He caught a drift of music and grinned. An organ had never been played in this spot be-

"Fishing," Lew said. He dumped his sardines on the endboard of the chuck wagon. Part of the meal was stacked there in a deep pan, thin steaks floured and cooked quickly in hot lard. They made a golden pile, juicy meat coated with crisp batter. Over the fire plt two long combs of ribs were braising.

Quarternight came in from the outer darkness and stopped to say, "I only left a two-mon guard, Lew. Moonlight and Splann offered. Guess It's safe enough for a while."

But all talk soon died. Eating was a sober business.

Only Joy said, 'Lew, just like Christmas!" and smiled at him, her eyes lingering with a steady warmth as if to tell him something,

He didn't understand the look, but this meal was like Christmas dinner, that one time at home on the Cross T when crew and family ate together in the big front room. A ruddy glow from the pit flooded the bent dark and light and hald heads as if from the fireplace of the room. while branches of elm and oak arched a roof above them.

He was halfway along the table with Rebel John, his inevitable partner, at his right elbow. Tom Arnold occupied one end, Joy the other. He watched Tom.

This was their last meal on Texas soil. He looked around the table and knew that some of these men, chances were, would never come back to it. He saw Joy watching him again.

He had been feeling better about Sleve these past days. The hounded look of watching his back trail seemed to have gone, as if Steve felt easier somehow as they approached the north line of Texas. But that look was there again now. In some way the Indian Supply herd being behind them, and not ahead, made a difference.

Question: What is best to do with cracked plaster? We have had some of the cracks refilled with plaster, but after a year or two these cracks are worse than before, as the new plaster has fallen out. What do you think of covering the walls and ceilings of bathroom and kitchen, which at present are painted, with wallcloth-the kind that can be painted over? A Good $10 Bill

In these days when money is talked about in astronomical figures, a $10 bill still looks pretty good to most of us. It means something at ence in terms of food or clothing or other things we want to buy. But billions are beyond most people; just temething tuper-big that the government deals in.

Did year ever wonder how much larger a follow dellars is than a mil in illice tenare on land evilate it while tes matte a billiets an it einen fie in to moke a 5m bill. Or figure a

Thrifty Meats

Food budgets require the hands of experts these days so they don't run away with themselves.

Scan the columns of your newspapers and the prices et your butchers and you'll notice many economical cuts of meat that are just packed full of flavor if you cook them properiy. It's not at all strange to find favorite foods in your family that are very inexpensive to prepare. But all of them Illustrate one important inct: the cook who prepares the food knows what she's working with and what to do with it to have It at its best. Make sure that all of your platters look attractive before you set them on the table. We still eat with our eyes first-and what's good to look at will disappear fast!

Save Used Fais! Did you ever think of spreading chuck steak with grapefruit butter? No? You'll find it tenderizes the meat and gives it delightful flavor:

FIBBER McGEE is plenty sore these days—in the muscles, not the temper. Here's the reason. The RKO picture, "Heavenly Days," which he and Molly are making, includes a dream fantasy in which Fibber, as a typical American citizen, enters the U.S. senate chamber and swims around 15 feet above the floor. It's done with invisible piano wires-which accounts for the sore muscles.

One night recently 70 soldiers were having fun in a New York night club. One thought he recognized a big, buxom blonde in the audience. "Miss Tucker," he said, "the boys would sure get a thrill if you'd sing 'Some of These Days' for them. We're on our last furlough, heading overseas." She sang, she wrote "Sophle Tucker" on menus for them. Didn't want to disappoint the boys by explaining that she's Lulu Bates, practically a double for Miss Tucker, a well-known blues singer who's starring now on NBC's "All Time Hit Parade."

Barry Wood, singer and master of ceremonies on "The Million Dollar Band," doesn't have too much time for his farm these days. He's been entertaining wounded servicemen at the Halloran and St. Albans hospitals, near New York.

Incidentally, that's a fine idea Barry has-that of giving war savings stamps as tips. It is one that is being widely copied in radio circles.

Something new has been added to Webster's dictionary; the new edition will include the word "nunpetoen," according to word recently received by Paramount. If you're a movie-goer you know it well; it's derived from "puppet" and "car-toon," and is the registered trademark of those short subjects produced by George Pal. "And to Think That I Saw It on Mulberry Street," picturization of the novel of the same name, is the latest in the series of Technicolor Puppetoons produced by Pal for Paramount.

Helen Mack, who's appearing in "And New Tomorrow" with Loretta Young and Alan Ladd, has been nicknamed "Droopy Helen" by her friends because she plays so many emotional roles. > The movies' own Margaret Sullain the highly successful "The Voice of the Turtle," juggles three different careers expertly—the stage, the sercen, and hardest of all, that of a good wife and mother . . . It was thrilling to sit in the audience one night recently and find that, when people murmured "Isn't It wonderful that he's here?" and stood up to store, it was Lieutenant Commander Robert Montgomery whom they meant. Three Ways to Use Wooden Cornices LABORATE box-like cornices to cover all reds and fixtures used in hanging curtains were the height of fashion in the formal rooms of the mid-Victorian period. Cornices are still used in simplified forms for our own windows.

This sketch shows three different treatments of box cornices for modern windows. They all give a professional effect, yet any amateur may make them. The diagram shows grooves cut on the inside of the returns to hold wooden rods or slat to be used instead of metal rods for hanging glass curtains and overdraperies. If you already have double curtain rods, just leave them in place and fit your cor-nice over them. If you decide to paint the wood instead of covering it, the color may match the room woodwork or it may repect some color in the drapery material,

Death of 91-Year-Old California Author Recalls How He, as Young Army Lieutenant, Recorded for Posterity Famous Speech of a Great Indian Chief

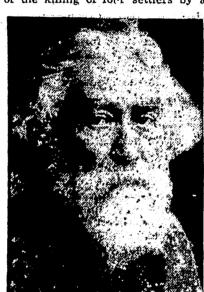

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON Released by Western Newspaper Union.

HE recent death of Col. ■ Charles Erskine Scott Wood in California recalls one of the most dramatic incidents in American military history, for he was one of the chief actors in that drama. It was the surrender of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce Indians in the Bear Paw mountains of Montana on October 5, 1877, after his epic retreat of more than 1,000 miles which won for him a place among the great captains of all time.

Colonel Wood, then a young lieutenant on the staff of Gen. O. O. Howard, was present at the surrender, took down the Indian leader's "surrender speech" and it is to him that we are indebted for a complete and accurate text of what has become a classic of American oratory. The story of the Nez Perce war of 1877 and of Chief Joseph's retreat is too familiar a tale to need repetition in all its details here. Its origin was the old, old story of a broken treaty, of white men covetous for Indian lands, of white aggression that brought about retaliation by the red man and then a call for troops to "put down an Indian uprising." In this case, however, the leader of the Nez Perces did not decide to try to defend his native soil by fighting the soldiers. Instead, he conceived the bold plan of fleeing with his people to Canada, fighting only if the troops barred his road.

Gen. O. O. Howard, commander of the Military Department of the Columbia, acted promptly when news of the killing of four settlers by a young Nez Perce warrior marked the opening of the "war." He be- | and offered him the rifle. Howard gan concentrating troops at all strategic points to surround the Nez! Perce. The first engagement took place on June 17 when Captain Perry and a small body of troops attacked Joseph's camp in White Bird canyon. Displaying unexpected military skill, Joseph laid a trap for Perry and all but annihilated his

After this defeat General Howard took the field himself and the chase was on. Before it was ended the Nez Perce leader outwitted, outfought and outmarched the troops of Howard, Colonel Sturgis of the Seventh cavalry and several other detachments sent to intercept him. To realize the greatness of his achievement one has but to read this brief

The Nez Perce leader was encumbered with women and children whom he refused to desert and allow them to fall into the hands of the soldlers, as he might have done several times to facilitate his flight. His fighting force never at any time exceeded 300 warriors. Yet with these handleaps he fought 11 engagements, five of them pitched battles, and he lost only one. In the other six skirmshes he killed 120 and article "Chief Joseph, the Nez wounded 140 of the 2,000 soldiers Perce" by Colonel Wood which apwho were on his trail at one time or | peared in the Century magazine for

The scene which followed is described by Wood in a letter which has never before been published. It follows:

"The surrender was October 5, 1877. Joseph rode up the hill near to sunset to where we were-Howard, Miles, Chapman, the interpreter; Oscar Long, adjutant to Miles, Guy Howard, the general's son and aide de camp, and myself. I was aide de camp, also adjutant general in the field-in charge of records,

"Three or four men on foot hung wore a blanket-I do not remem-Under his blanket he wore a woolen army blue. He wore moccasins and lafter the fleeing Nez Perces leggings. His rifle was across the pommel in front of him. When he dismounted he picked up his rifle, pulled his blanket cluser around him and walked toward General Howard waved him toward Miles. He then walked to Miles and began his speech." The text of that historic speech as given by Colonel Wood follows:

Tell General Howard I know his heart. What he told me before-I have it in my heart,

I am tired of fighting. Our chiefs are killed. Looking Glass is dead. Too-hul-hul-suit is dead. It is the young men now who say "yes" and "no" (vote in the council). He who led on the young men (Ollicut, his brother) is dead. It is cold and we have no blankets. The little children are freezing to death. My people-some of them-have run away to the hills and have no blankels, no food. No one knows where they are-perhaps freezing to death. I want to have time to look for my children and see how many of them I can find; maybe I shall find them among the dead. Hear me, my chiefs, my heart is sick and sad. Wood was born in Erie, Pa. February 20, 1852, the son of Wil llam Maxwell Scott, who was the first surgeon-general of the United States navy. Educated at Erie academy and Baltimore city college he was appointed to the United States Military academy at West Point at the age of 18 by President Grant. THOSE SMALL-TOWN TEACHERS

(Apropos of a recent belittling of school teachers by the mayor of New York on the ground they came from small towns.) They're just some small-town teachers- >

They're just the smaller fry; They come from little places (Where no loud-speakers cry); They're small-town educators-Their I.Q. it is slight; They merely know the secret Of teaching truth and light!

They're just some small-town teach-

You know the sort I mean-Who taught the Hales and Prescotts Kit Carson and Nate Greene.

They teach in far Missoula. In Saybrook and Fort Lce . . . In Medford town and Trenton In Kent and Little Tree; In schools around Mount Vernon

And Saratoga Heights In Gettysburg and Moultrie: They're just the lesser lights! Such teachers! Merely husbers!

The kind I scorn and shun; They merely taught Steve Foster, Bell, Ford, and Edison! How dare they make suggestions To cities all aglow,

"ALL-BRAN WORKED WONDERS FOR ME!"

Says Constipation Sufferer

There's real hope for common

"Thanks for what KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has done for me. I'm 75 years old. Had been taking pills and salts almost every night. 6 weeks ago, I started enting KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Soon I had regular movements without any trouble. I can't praise ALL-BRAN enough, It sure works wonders for me." Mr. E. C. Zook, Box 114, Fairbury, Ill.

How can such amazing results for thousands be explained? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulosic" elements, lack of which in the diet is a common cause of constipation. They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constination of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Are Books Essential?

Canaday millions are deriving help, inspiration, courage and diversion-from books.

Books are saving priceless man hours by making available, to all who can read, all the skills of all the crafts so vital to victory. Books are explaining to a bewildered nation why we fighthow, and where, and whom we fight.

Books reveal our friends, unmask our enemies. Books help us to understand our country, our world, the history, the geography, the people, their customs, their ambitions. Books take us where our men are fighting and make them better fighting men.

Books give us all that mankind has done and dreamed and planned.

Whatever man has accomplished or hopes to accomplish is yours-in books. Are books essential? Try to imagine a democracy at war. -urthout books.
